

Technology Day

Monday, May 6, 2013

The Dow Chemical Company is investing $25 million per year for 10 years in collaborations with its 11 Strategic University Partners, including Caltech. The investment will strengthen research in traditional scientific fields important to Dow and to the nation's future. Long-term investments from Dow will support faculty, students and infrastructure, enabling a critical mass of resources to address some of the world's foremost challenges.

As one of Dow Chemical's Strategic University Partners, Caltech is hosting a day with Dow Research and Development scientists to explore possible areas of synergy.
